Red Infiltration Cause for Alarm, General Says

By LU SPEHR

Russia's determination to control a Communist-dominated world has increased rather than lessened since the death of Stalin, Lt. Gen. Charles Pearre Cabell deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, said here today.

Communist agents from many nations are being trained in Russia and Czechoslovakia and are being returned to their countries to train others and spread the revolutionary movement, and the infiltration of Cabell; daughter, Catherine, 15, and son, Ben, 13, visiting his wife's mother and brother, Mrs. C. J. and Ralph DeHymel, 3376 E. Foothill. His oldest son, Charles P. Cabell Jr., 17, entered West Point as a cadet today, just 33 years after his father entered the same Academy.

THE GENERAL is to explain the workings of the Central Intelligence Agency, which handles all espionage outside continental United States, at a dinner meeting tonight of East Pasadena Business Assn., at Hillcrest restaurant.

So far Russia has had much success in swallowing up adjacent nations and spreading its doctrines into more remote places and while this success continues, it is unlikely to precipitate a shooting war, General Cabell said. However, there can be no letting up in our own preparedness for the moment we appear weak we will become subject to attack, he warned.

THE ANNOUNCED investigation of Central Intelligence Agency by the Hoover Commission has long been anticipated and is welcomed by the agency, General Cabell said. Its objective will be a study of the agency's administration with a view to promoting the greatest efficiency and economy in operation of the department.

The general said he has no idea what information Sen. Joseph McCarthy has regarding subversives within the Central Intelligence Agency. The senator has said that he plans an investigation of the agency.

"The screening system used by the agency on all its employees and agents is, I am confident, the most effective of any department's but if the senator has any information we have missed we shall be glad to receive it," General Cabell said.

THE GENERAL flew from Washington Sunday, piloting a bomber to March Field to keep up with the flying time he is required to maintain to retain his pilot rating. After a 10 days visit here he and his family together with his wife's sister, Mrs. Patricia Dunford, wife of Col. Donald Dunford, will motor East by way of Canada and the northern United States.

General Cabell's son, Charles Jr., was graduated a year ago from Gonzaga High School in Washington and attended Georgetown University the past year. He took the examination for West Point and won one of the few Presidential appointments given to sons of men in service.

these agents into the Latin American countries has reached rather alarming proportions, the general said.

PROSPECTS of an internal revolution overthrowing the Communist regime in Russia are very dim for the Communists are professional revolutionists, know all the mistakes made by those they overthrew in 1917, and are not likely to make those mistakes themselves, General Cabell predicted.
